The Touch of Compassion in a Trying Time

Since the past two years, we have witnessed a cataclysmic biological crisis that has put us to rethink our position in this world and how far we have really progressed as civilised denizens. The Oxford Learners' Dictionary describes Progress as "movement forwards or towards a place." The question that arises here is - movement towards where? We've made progress in Science, Technology, Art, Culture, and Social Sciences which have invariably helped us better our lives. However, in pursuit of a better life, we've left behind the very essence of our existence – Compassion. The outbreak of COVID-19 has given a jolt to the one-way traffic to material acquisition, and has made us look within ourselves and to question our real purpose of existence. Like any other epidemic in the past for example, the Bubonic plague, Cholera, Spanish Flu to name a few, the COVID-19 pandemic has affected people across class, race, religion and gender. However, the worst hit is the lower strata of the society where people have not only succumbed to the infection but have been financially ripped-off owing to the prolonged lockdown. During the two waves of the corona virus pandemic, we've witnessed the grotesque truth about our vulnerability in the face of unprecedented crises. Images of patients left alone to die due to lack of medical facility, stigmatisation of infected patients as potential social pollutants, images of unending caravan of migrant labourers detouring home, of patients and their attendees desperately searching for oxygen, are some noted visuals which have left a permanent mark in our soul.

In such a bleak atmosphere a ray of hope lights the pall of gloom and reminds us of the indomitable spirit of humanity. Along with the surge in death and despair, we've also witnessed the surge of volunteers who've prioritised the well-being of others over themselves. Thousands of health-workers have risked their lives to attend to the affected patients, and many of them have also succumbed to the infection. But these frontline warriors still continue to be on guard and work relentlessly day and night. Besides the health-workers, many people have volunteered to help not only the patients, but the people who are stranded in different cities, people who are stuck at home alone without anybody to look after them. The next door neighbour, whom we've never had the time to interact turns out to be a life-saver, that group of boys idling in the clubs arrange free ambulance services, those house wives who are otherwise manacled to the household chores, took out time to prepare and deliver food to the needy. Many celebrities and politicians have come forward to help by providing buses for free transportation of migrant labourers, free oxygen supplies for the infected people, distribution of food supplies and masks, and the list continues. This bears testimony to the fact that humanity surpasses every material desire that had been leading the course of our lives. It is in the under-rated human-values like love, compassion and integrity of characters that the real meaning of life and living is understood.

In order to celebrate the spirit of humanity and compassion, we have decided to choose the theme of our departmental wall magazine, Inspiration, as "Spark of Humanity in Pandemic." This issue of Inspiration is in the electronic mode as a result of the prolonged lockdown, and minimum work-force. In order to keep ourselves in tandem with the COVID-19 protocol, we've worked and arranged everything virtually. We must congratulate our beloved students who have shown great enthusiasm in contributing their works for this version of the wall magazine. This e-wall magazine is dedicated to all those people who have restored our faith in humanity, who have risked their lives and their loved ones while extending their helping hands in fighting this dreaded pandemic. In so doing, they have re-emphasised the importance of universal fellow-feeling and compassion. After all no man is an island, and the whole world is one family as the Sanskrit sloka goes:

From the Desk of the Head of the Department

The pandemic might have brought us down on our knees, but nothing can beat the most potent, invincible, rapidly mutating, indefatigable force --- humanity. COVID-19 has threatened a fundamental human right: the right to survive. This threat has brought humanity together. It is this urge of fellow feeling that has made us desire to do something for others. Acts of philanthropy can happen at a wider scale only when we all come together and strive for a better world. Humanity connects all of us. Like a domino effect, this thought has the potential to touch everyone, and bring about a therapeutic change which is essential for the human race to triumph and to survive in challenging times. In addition to this, we have hope. Hope, from common people, who have become crusaders against the pandemic. Multiple stories of kindness have been observed during this period. Many started off as individuals only to become that single spark to trigger a movement that grew exponentially.

This issue of Inspiration with the theme “Spark of Humanity in the Time of Pandemic” commemorates the formidable force of humanity and its core elements like kindness, compassion and sacrifice that have surfaced during this critical time of COVID-19. What can be better than this to celebrate and also to acknowledge all those people who've risked everything -their lives as well as their loved ones? I congratulate the e-wall magazine committee members, contributors and teachers who have worked enthusiastically to bring out this online version of the wall-magazine. I hope the magazine spreads the true ideals of oneness and unity.

SPARK OF HUMANITY IN PANDEMICS

-ABHINAV KUMAR 20-EIE-002

There is a spark of humanity in everyone. This means that people who cares about others, helps others without being selfish, have the spark of humanity. This spark can be seen in many people during any tough and challenging situation, any pandemics. In pandemics, many people and their families face problems. They are not able to go out of their houses for buying vegetables, groceries and other essential items. It is also not possible to reach to the doctor as many people have to travel long way for treatment and travelling is not allowed during pandemics. This is point the where we are able to see that spark in humans for helping others. Few people move out of their safe zone and start working for the needy people. We can call these people as pandemic worriers.

The people show humanity in different situation. Many leave aside their hostility with their enemy and help them too. People come up with different ideas to help those people who needs essential items to runs their family during pandemics. Many people lose their jobs as the companies, factories, etc. go under loses. So, these companies remove some of their staffs. Many companies are shut down. Due to this, people go under scarcity of money. During this tough time, the humanity of other people is seen. People forms organizations to deliver foods, groceries, etc. to the needy ones. They arrange doctors for their camps so that the sick people can easily get treated at their home.

We have seen the people's humanity during this COVID-19 situation. When everybody was locked in their house because of lockdown which was implemented by the government, then many people increased the power of humanity in them then came out of their houses with full safety and formed organizations and camps to help other people. These NGOs and camps have supplied raw and cooked food packages to poor people residing in outskirts of cities and in villages. In towns, people with this spark have delivered daily essentials like milk, newspapers, breads, etc. There are many organizations in India which helped people during this COVID-19 pandemic like Feeding From Far in Mumbai; MCKS Food in Delhi, Jharkhand, Orissa; Mazdoor Kitchen in Delhi NCR; Chikka Foundation in Bihar, Delhi, etc. organizations provide meals and ration kits to the people. PINT Network in Mumbai, Delhi, Kolkata, Gujrat, etc helped the patients who were in need of plasma. They matched the donors, quicker and more efficiently. Mission Oxygen in Delhi NCR, Sakina Foundation in Telangan and Andhra Pradesh, SEEDS in Utrakhand, Bihar, West Bengal, Kerala, Uttar Pradesh, etc. supplied free oxygen. Many of these organizations are set up by the common people, students, professors, and different companies. Many celebrities also contributed in this pandemic. The famous name we all know is Sonu Sood. He selflessly worked for migrants during pandemic. He stared many campaigns to send the migrants from Mumbai to their home safely. He arranged buses for them. He also launched Pravasi Rojgar app to helped skilled and unskilled workers to find jobs.

So, in this world, there are still a lot of human beings who serve the society and their Country without thinking about themselves. In other words, there is a 'Spark of Humanity' in these people and this spark can be seen in difficult situation of pandemics.

"महान बनने से पूर्व एक व्यक्ति को अच्छा इंसान बनना पड़ता है"। इस उदाहरण को साबित करते हुए इस महामारी के समय बहुत से लोगों ने अपने निस्वार्थ हाथ आगे बढ़ाए उन लाचार बेबस लोगों के लिए जिनके पास इस संकट की घड़ी में कोई सहारा न था।

किसी ने अपने घर परिवार से दूर रह रहे अप्रवासियों को सुरक्षित घर पहुंचाने का बीड़ा उठाया तो किसी ने लावारिस छोड़ दी गई लाशों के अंतिम संस्कार करने का जिम्मा । मीलों पैदल चल कर जब देश के गरीब मजदूर अपने "देस" लौट रहे थे तो रास्ते में पानी और parle G बिस्कुट लेकर सड़कों पर मदद भरे हाथ खड़े थे। ऐसा पहली बार था जब मदद भरे हाथ न धर्म पूछ रही थी , न जात , न ही सरहदे । नफ़रत की भट्टी में जलती राजनीति और इसके कालिख में रंगते आम लोग कोरोना की संकट में जैसे धुलते जा रहे थे । कोरोना के दौर में लोगों के सोशल मीडिया पर दूर अनजान लोगों के मदद के लिए गुहार लगाते पोस्ट , हर जरूरतमंद तक दवाइयां पहुंचाने की जद्दोजहद वाली विनती इस बात का सबूत हैं कि कोरोना महामारी के लहरों के बीच अगर आज इंसान दिखते हैं तो केवल " इंसानियत" की वजह से ।

लोगों की मदद को अक्सर पहले एक हाथ बढ़ता है लेकिन वो मदद भरे हाथ तभी मज़बूत होते हैं जब उन्हें औरों का भी साथ मिलता है । कोरोना के भीषण दौर में हमने इन मदद भरी हाथों की मजबूती देखी है । PM CARES से लेकर सोनू सूद , विराट कोहली और बड़े बड़े NGOs तक , जहां भी लोगों के मदद के लिए मुहिम चलाई गई , हर जगह देश के लोगों ने सामूहिक तौर पर अपने हिस्से की मदद पहुंचाई हैं जिससे बाद में बड़े स्तर पर लोगों की मदद हो सकी , इसलिए ये कहना कि आज "इंसानियत" महामारी पर भारी होती दिख रही है , इसमें कोई अतिशयोक्ति नहीं होगी।

हम लड़े हैं , कुछ जीतें भी हैं लेकिन जंग अभी खत्म नहीं हुई , उम्मीद है सरहदों के पार तक इंसानियत की लौ गरीब मुल्क तक भी कोरोना महामारी से फैले अंधियारे को मिटाने में सफल होगी ।

RAY OF HUMANITY AMIDST THE CRISIS

Pramita Saha 20-BT-013

The Covid-19 pandemic has just hit its peak and most likely won't be ending soon, leaving countless aftermaths to humanity. In this challenging situation, social dedication and service is needed more than anything to shine the light from the goodness in humanity. Beside the endless sacrifices that the doctors, nurses, and other medical staffs are doing by treating the patient's day and night, there are different organizations and many individuals who have come up arranging beds, oxygen cylinders and free food to the needy. The policemen, ambulance drivers, home delivery guys, sweepers have put their duties before safety.

The Gautam Gambhir Foundation is extending support to the health care workers by providing sanitisers, masks and PPE kit. Mission oxygen began an overnight initiative by the entrepreneurs across Delhi to aid hospitals running out of oxygen. Access Foundation has been providing free ambulance services, ration, and other household essentials. The DELHI NGO has distributed more than 500 study material kits to the children. Sonu Sood has done commendable job by safely reaching the daily workers to their homes. Personally, walking with a foundation, I could understand the real happiness and meaning of humanity. Amidst the crisis and cruelty, the spark of humanity and unity has changed mentality of a lot of people.

MY PANDEMIC STORY AND EXPERIENCE

Hritik Sawant 20-CE-039

As all the answers carry stories of Covid that negatively affected their lives, let me share some personal positive vibes I have learnt to find. Everyone's life has been going negative. It's too frustrating during the second wave, especially if you are living in that area where in every street or society There is one or more corona patients.

I was in a total shock when the cases of death rose in no time in our district Dhanbad Jharkhand. After receiving all the bad news from friends and relatives, it was a difficult task to manage any kind of positivity. I eventually planned to keep myself occupied. I started gardening, learning computer coding and a little workout. It did work for a few days. We have brought food for stray dogs to feed them as well. It's such a beautiful feeling, especially when we are there for them during this sultry heat of my area.

It keeps us busy.

It makes us follow the rules very strictly.

It makes us feel very positive.

It keeps the kid's stomachs full.

It teaches my sister's kids value of food.

It gives us a proper sleep after a tiring day.

Covid has taught us to value small things in life.

I promise to never waste food.

Covid has affected my life very negatively but has made me find positive vibe in every possible ways.

The kids help us pack while the doggo boosts our morale and raises our spirit. My elder brother promised me never to waste any food after watching those kids beg for food. She says she is lucky to have access to everything pretty easily.

I started wearing gloves while distributing food because a few well-wishers on instagram requested me to follow proper precautions to stay safe. I am really obligated to their caring gestures.

So far we have fed 287 hungry kids.

We will try to keep up till we are mentally and physically fit to do it. This Pandemic has affected us badly but I am really thankful that family and I are lucky to be safe till now and no one got infected. I am mentally drained yet hopeful for a better future that may or may not happen. But hope is a friend we all should have, when needed the most.

An insignificant, teeny weeny virus has taught not just me but the whole world some valuable lessons.

May these memories empower us in future and may how we overcame this pandemic be among our best memories of 2020.

Spark of Humanity in Pandemic

ANKIT KUMAR 20-CE-016

The current situation of corona pandemic is enough to witness that humanity which was suppressed in man till now has surfaced again. This outbreak of pandemic has shown mankind that how ephemeral is the very existence of man. It has shown man the worst of the days when everyday he saw his very near and dear ones lying mercilessly at the hands of a virus. Ultimately, this has rekindled humanity. The situation has seen men coming together and reaching out to the needy all over the world whether it be in helping the indentured labors reaching their home or NGOs coming forward in helping by giving medical help to patients. It has shown that there is no discrimination in the eyes of nature and that no one is safe until everyone is safe. The undignified death of covid patients or migrant labors all across the nation has raised goosebumps. It is only hope which is giving strength to people to overcome this darkness on mankind and the divine spark of humanity in the heart of men has made the path easy for all. Kiran Mazumdar Shaw quotes: "Ultimately, the greatest lesson that COVID-19 can teach humanity is that we are all in this together." Thus, I conclude by saying that Social Distancing has reduced the distance between men bringing them closer towards humanity

What happened a year ago
Does any body know ?
Are we still ignorant
As if it will snow
Some dropped dead on a road
Some met a better fate
No one was careless enough
But they were little too late
No oxygen cylinder to help
Even god gave up the hope
Kind men and women took the charge
To bring down people off the rope
The administration crumbled
Government stood clueless
The stats hidden behind the bars
How dare you ask us anything ?
How dare you say ?
No food to eat for someone
No oxygen to breath

Yet people believed and worked
To bring something beneath
When everything fails
Nothing is left
Human values are destroyed
Like a crisis of theft
Burning bodies, burying people
Are all we saw
But still people haven't learnt
Of the deadly pandemic Alas
They roam around like nothing happened
One day they meet their fate
We will blame the government
We will again nothing to say

SPARK OF HUMANITY IN PANDEMIC

Rajneelam Roy 20-CE-063

A Pandemic appears in a huge scale outbreaks that harms the 'morality of our society'. Just like a eclipse cover the light of the moon, just like that it covers our happiness and made us weak in significant 'economic, social and political distraction'. It is not the first time we are facing it. Pandemic has increased ever past century because of increase in global travel. Every time we made it simple and sustain to build a preparedness and health capacity.

But we fall in war zone due to the pandemic. Many people were lost their lives and their lifestyle were ruined. Especially the 'migrants workers' had to face a lot of problem. Our country also had facing a pandemic covid19 from 2020. This affects the 'Countries all over the world'. But some people take this pandemic as offer and had the storage of 'Health equipment and Medicine'. They help in the spread of Pandemic.

In a pandemic the human being cannot be shattered and made the "Humanity alive". Our Government and Front-line workers came forward and helps us to fight with pandemic. It shows the "Spark Of Humanity In Pandemic"...

The Spark of Humanity in Pandemic of 21st century

Chhuti Mistry - 20-CHE-038

The first major pandemic of the 21st century came after 20 years of the century and became a major obstacle to normal human lifestyle of the century. It showed us that even though we are locked up in our own homes or maybe rooms, we can still be connected with everyone all around the world through the technology of the century. It made us understand that our own self is the most important treasure every one of us have in the current environment we are dealing with. Even though we think we are safe enough, healthy enough and fit enough, we found that we are not able to deal with the small things that at times meant nothing to us. We are feeling stressed out with the things, that at times we loved and enjoyed the whole day and night.

Through the law of nature, we should try to understand that everything that had once started, will definitely end someday; be it today, or tomorrow. Now, it depends on us whether we will pass these days with a smile or a frown on the face.

OUR HUMANITY AND COLLABORATION WILL ONE DAY WIN AGAINST COVID-19 VIRUS

AYANIKA CHATTERJEE 20-CHE-33

For the past few centuries, the Earth seems to have never experienced such an epidemic.

Countless people have died all over the world, countless people have lost their jobs, people of all professions, big and small, have been affected in one way or another.

Covid-19 virus is causing the disease all over the world.

In doing so the doctors, nurses and all paramedical staffs, have been incarnated in the role of gods. They are the people who are risking their lives to fight against death and are saving our lives days after days, nights after nights. The PPE kit they are wearing are going to serve us by enduring unbearable pain.

And in such a situation, it is difficult to think that some politicians are doing politics with it at a time when we can see that many people have been attacked in our country and the death march continues with it.

We should always remember that not to insult the affected persons as this is a pandemic situation the whole world is going through. Is it not for the sake of humanity that we all together can give the world a gift of a healthy Covid-19 virus-free world?

And after a while everything will be fine again, until then we have to wait and we have to become more restrained. We are waiting for the new dawn when we will see that the of this earth corona is very small, and very soon it will be free of corona. On that day we will be able to breathe in the open air without a mask.

The lost business world will be back again.

Pick up The Call

Tanisha Dutta 20-CHE-123

What does privilege mean so far?
Is it only having an expensive car?

Ask the boy who has no roof,
He will simply reply with “food”.

Is it having crores in your bank?
Or is it just having a meal on your pan?

The virus taught us there is no rich no poor,
All humans are the same that is for sure.

Thank God for the roof and food,
Go, donate today for someone’s good.

Step up, help others, prove your fidelity;
Show that we humans do not lack in humanity.

Better days are not too far,
If we just remove the bar.

United we stand, divided we fall.
It’s your time now, pick up the call.

The effect of the COVID-19 pandemic has left a harsh impact on the unprivileged and financially poor family in the year 2020. And the impact didn't even end yet, the second wave of COVID-19 occurred. And they have to face the same problem once again. The situation became worse when the Yash cyclone struck the coastal regions of West Bengal. In Mahishadal, my hometown many villages near the riverside received fatal destruction. They ran out of food, their shelters got damaged. The lockdown made it more difficult for them to arrange everything. Fortunately, many government-certified donation camps helped the villagers by providing them money, food, and other stuff. But later one of my school friends said me about the tribal workers and their family. They work in a brick kiln and live there with their family. The cyclone affected their life a lot and they didn't get as much help from any donation camp.

After knowing their critical condition, we felt that we should do something for them. So, I and my school friends decided to raise funds and provide them with a suitable amount of food. We don't belong to any club or donation camp, we have no experience at that time. But still, we had the belief to do it and help the people. So, we decided to collect money through online mode from others due to lockdown. But the problem was that we don't belong to any dignified or professional camp, so we cannot raise funds from social media platforms. We made a suitable request message for the donation and told every friend to share the message with their relative and other known persons. From this, we calculated that rupees six thousand will be the suitable amount for buying the food items. Everyone started to share the message and requested all their relatives and friends to donate. We all were totally surprised when the donated amount raised to almost ten thousand rupees in three days. We never thought so many of our relatives and friends would donate so much. We increased the amount of food and also added some medical staff.

We had donated food items like rice, pulse, popped rice, onions, potatoes, cooking oil, eggs, biscuit packets, and medical things like masks, sanitizer, and ORS packets. We had provided the items to almost forty families those are affected by the cyclone. We felt so blessed and thankful after successfully helping the people in need. More than our success, it is a success of humanity.

Spark of Humanity in Pandemic

Rishikesh Kumar 20-CHE-74

Covid-19 has impacted millions of peoples in the world (including India) who have been out of work for months, thus creating a financial burden. Without a job and the certainty of knowing when one will return to work, paying rent and utilities has been a problem for many. With unemployment rising, this pandemic hit us in brutal ways.

In this tough time, many privileged even non-privileged people came forward to help & support the needy. Like on request of Hon. PM many eminent personalities and many common people too came forward and did their bits in PM funds and NGOs who had been working tirelessly to help peoples. Many people have shown their support in different ways like donating food packets, clothes and gave shelter to migrants. I also did my bit but not much to mention here. if we talk about social media as Twitter became helpful to forward messages of help. Like at the one-time country was suffering from a shortage of oxygen cylinders, plasma, and vaccines vile .many people came forward after getting and noticing messages to help the needy ones via social media. if we through positive eyes Humanity did their best to help the needy. But at some points few peoples were also holding and gathering likes of oxygen cylinders and vaccines vile & selling on high price, that's not come under humanities.

So overall we can say humanity sparked in good ways during this pandemic.

CORONAVIRUS - THE TEST OF HUMANITY

Sayan Halder-20-CHE-085

“The smallest act of kindness is worth more than the grandest intention.”

- Oscar Wilde

The year 2020 has been disastrous in the true sense of the word, and the effect has continued till the present day. The cause, as you all know, is a certain virus called the coronavirus. The virus has shaken each and every people of the world to their very core. Innumerable people have lost their lives and even more have mourned the loss of their loved ones. And it has not only affected people in terms of physical health, some are struggling with their mental health as well.

Coronavirus has drastically affected the economy too, meaning plenty of people have lost their jobs owing to the horrible financial situation. But the worst affected have been the ones who have to work daily to make a living and the ones who unfortunately, have to live on the street. The pandemic has hit these sections of the society like a shovel, and has completely deprived them of whatever little income they have.

So last year, my friends and I decided to do something to help the ones in need - a small effort towards a greater cause. We undertook a campaign where we distributed packets of some essential items to a group of underprivileged people living in the neighborhood of our school. An act of kindness, however small, does go a long way in making the world a better place.

This campaign was our first ever effort to do something for the greater good of our society, and definitely not our last. Since giving is the greatest act of grace, we have sincerely vowed to come together to make an impact that will put a smile on the faces of the not-so-lucky people.

ALL WOULD BE OKAY

Saumashree De-20-CHE-082

It is another repetitive lost day in a lost timeline where everything is slightly muddled and some things seem to give out a fresh breath of air. Eyes rolling over to the familiar, over-studied spots on the wall, the window, the building in front, back to the window rails, and then back to a hazy out-of-focus vision of the stuffy room. It was a steady cycle of boredom and hollowing sadness.

She struggled a lot, had struggled since she was a child, and could rarely express it. But there was an innate sense of satisfaction when she could help others overcome their struggles. Being labeled as “over-dramatic” and having no one who would listen to her, she had withdrawn even further than before.

Until a loud buzz reached her ears. Sitting up groggily, straining to even open her phone, she realized it was a text message.

Hey. Long time no see. How are you? Want to video call?

She did. They watched some videos, the funny ones. It was a sensation she had forgotten and then a laugh came out eventually; a loud, snorting hilarious laugh burst out over the lagging video call.

She laughed and laughed and laughed until she realized her head was in her hands and she was sobbing. Her friend didn't say anything except sadly smiled at her through the screen as she wept. It was crushing sadness but the relief made her head swim. It all came out of the pent-up “pretentious” sadness that was choking her. The relief.

All because of a small “How are you?” All because someone, one day decided to look in on her. A simple thing, costing some insignificant time. And in these moments, taking time out for each other in the smallest of ways becomes the biggest act of humanity one could come across.

She wiped her face as her friend gave her space. They smiled. All would be okay.

Spark of Humanity During Pandemic

DHIRAJ KUMAR 20-CSE-053

Humanity is an important element a society that helps in overcoming big challenges like pandemic, wars and natural calamities like famine, drought, earthquake and floods. It is the backbone of a civilization that shapes the future of a community or a country. The current COVID-19 pandemic has brought out the best as well as the worst in us. Amidst the grim atmosphere all around, there are some sparkling light of goodness that has given us hope. We've noticed the selfless generosity of people like neighbours helping neighbours with supplies household goods and medicines, strangers helping strangers with food and money or with transportation. Such gesture of goodness had helped in combating the COVID-19 pandemic situation that has weakened the nation and the society. Despite less numbers of super-specialty hospitals, we have been able to combat the pandemic because of the touch of humanity. I am very glad to see that in India even today humanity is alive. I feel proud to be an Indian because even today the values of empathy still exist.

SPARK OF HUMANITY IN PANDEMIC

Anshika Anand 20-CSE-023

Our human civilization has faced many pandemics over the centuries like the Bubonic plague, the Spanish Flu, Cholera and Polio, to name a few. Right now, we are under a pandemic called the COVID-19 flu. Pandemic had affected everyone severely across every strata of the society but as always poor people or the economically backward section of the society are the worst hit by the pandemic. We all should try to reach to these affected people and help them in every possible way.

Many children have lost their parents and many parents have lost their beloved children. We can't compensate their loss but at least we can shower some love on them and help them to come out of their grief. There are many ways of showing some empathy towards them, we can help them financially as their livelihood is affected. We can provide them with medicines, food, clothing and even shelter as many are in need of that. But the most important thing which we need is to show is some love to them, some support as it is much needed by any person in their tough times. This act of humanity will strengthen their spirit to face this difficult time, also to stay positive. Our every act of kindness towards these affected people will help a lot and this pandemic is the time that we all will come together united and help each other.

Spark of humanity amid Pandemic

Ankita Panja-20-CSE-021

Our world has changed tremendously. Suddenly, it came to a standstill as if the electricity has gone off. We hear many people say these days that “we are all in it together,” Are we, really?

COVID-19 does not differentiate among the Hollywood or the Bollywood celebrities, sports stars, politicians, millionaires and the poor. However, the worst hit by this pandemic are the poor and the daily wage earners the world over, who do not have an option of working from home. When it comes to care, the survival of the person depends on his/her ability to stay away from the virus, and the thickness of his/her wallet. The sufferings of the people, who are actually the builders and the helpers of the society, raise question over our Human Conscience. Where is our faith in action?

Here, I would like to mention names of some people who dared to work for and standby the helpless denizens of the lower strata of society.

Sonu Sood is rightly given the title, The Man of the Year, 2020. Last year, in April and May, as the lockdown kept extending, desperate migrants workers took to road, walking home. Mr. Sonu Sood launched the ‘gharbhejo’ campaign with Neeti Geol, and reportedly arranged transport for 7.5 lakh migrant workers. He equipped frontline workers with masks and face shields, airlifted students who were stranded abroad and helped farmers in distress. He also launched Pavasi Rojgar, an app to help skilled and unskilled workers to find jobs.

Another young Indian, Raghav Juyal, while walking on the ladder of success, has chosen to help his birth place Uttarakhand. Recently, he took to social media to declare that he will be promoting brands for free. Instead, the actor and dancer had appealed to the brands to donate for Uttarakhand to fight against the pandemic. He is still working very hard to help his state to battle this ongoing second wave of pandemic. He has recently donated 20 big Oxygen cylinders, 40 cannulas, 20 oxymeters in Pauri. He has also been actively campaigning on social media for international donations

ONCE A HUMAN, ALWAYS A HUMAN

Hritadip Basak 20-CSE-66

In our normal day-to-day lives, we always had a busy and stressful lifestyle, running after success to achieve better things in life. Alas, in our pursuit of such material comforts, we became self-centered and never cared about what was happening around. Suddenly, a tiny virus which originated from the Wuhan district of China had created a worldwide catastrophe. It gave birth to a “new-normal” life, where almost everything had shut down abruptly and life came to a standstill..

Initially, it was speculated that the virus would depart within few months. But lack of awareness, knowledge and obedience shown by people, and inadequate testing made things worse. Consequently, it gave rise to successive “waves” of the COVID-19 infection. Daily news of rising cases, people dying due to lack of oxygen and beds, children becoming orphans, economic landslide, etc., gave us no ray of hope that the situation would improve. But there were examples displayed during this pandemic, which proved that humanity still exists within us.

Doctors, nurses and medical staff worldwide should be applauded for their determined efforts to save people, risking their own lives. Scientists have been working hard to desperately find a cure to this infection. The Police worked day in and out to maintain law and order during the lockdown and ensured people obeyed lockdown guidelines.

But pleasant surprises came from those whom we didn’t expect to help. People like Sonu Sood contributed immensely by sending migrant workers to their homes, supplying oxygen, medicines, etc., by forming a team. Volunteers, NGOs, local clubs, teachers, students and individuals also helped the infected people in various ways, i.e., distribution of free food, setup of safe homes, oxygen parlors, etc. according to their capacity. Many auto-rickshaw and cab drivers converted their vehicles into ambulances. Instead of celebrating occasions, people have donated to organizations that are working for the needy.

Lastly, we can say science and technology, with humane intentions, can make the world progress and prosper. If everyone can recognize their true potential and strive to bring change with dedication and teamwork, development is inevitable and such tough times will disappear.

SPARK OF HUMANITY IN PANDEMIC

Mayank kumar 20-CSE-086

Pandemic doesn't sound very positive. It brings with itself sorrows and fear all over the country and also all over the world. We've heard about the word pandemic in our textbooks when we were back in school, and we prayed that nothing like that happens in real life again. But unfortunately, we are in the midst of covid-19 pandemic right now.

The pandemic has brought our lives to standstill. Although there are numerous ill effects of this covid-19 pandemic still in this darkness of pandemic we've got to see the much needed spark of humanity. In this competitive world humans have become self-centric, emotionless and materialistic. But this pandemic has taught us to look beyond ourselves. Earlier we overlooked people's suffering even if it were happening in front of our eyes and we turned our head away from it. But now we see that people are coming out from their house, keeping aside their safety for helping the needy. This help is not only for fellow humans but also to the animals out on the streets and birds. Bollywood celebrities like Sonu Sood has served as a role model for humanity and motivated people to serve the needy people. Humans now can be locked-down but humanity can't.

Pandemic has brought all living beings closer to each other. It's reminded us the human values which we forgot in our pursuit for a better life. People came to realise that until everyone is safe and happy no one will be safe and happy. Humanity must spread across every street, every neighbourhood, every city and every country if we are to defeat the pandemic, not only with science and technology but also with wisdom, compassion and humanity.

Spark of Humanity in Pandemic

Priyanshu Ishu 20-CSE-110

The covid-19 pandemic has shaken the world to its very roots. From turning the world's economy topsy-turvy to taking people's lives, the virus has been no less than a nightmare. But as Leo Tolstoy has very rightly said "the sole meaning of life is to serve humanity".

Even this dark time couldn't snuff out the flames of humanity that flickers within all of us. It rather amplified our concern for others' lives over our own. The unexpected halt that the pandemic brought our lives to has not only brought families together but also made us realize what society actually means and how we could be there for those who are underprivileged. The frontline workers – our protectors in their khakis and white coats have been risking their lives since day one with the community appreciating them with claps and candles. When the migrant labourers were trying to return to their homes, people of different regions came out of their own houses to help them with food, water and other basic necessities of the time (soaps and masks). Many residential societies and NGOs worked hand in hand to help the needy of their areas. Celebrities and business tycoons made charitable contributions to various relief funds and served as role models for the commoners. Even the stray animals weren't left to starve.

The pandemic taught the world the greatest moral value of all – Humanity. If science and technology is needed at this hour to keep humans alive, kindness and concern is what we need to keep us humane.

PANDEMIC POEM

Ishan Singh-20-CSE-70

More than the greening of the trees,
more than the crush of violets decking the surface of the thawing earth, more than the gold-washed clouds creeping across the early horizon, it's the chorus of those first risers that really gets to me.

Slowly at first, then rapidly,
then a brilliant cacophony like raindrops shattering gleefully against the pavement, the birds awaken.

The sparrow and wren and robin warble their persistent praise to the morning, to the spring, to life itself, drowning out the dull hum of winter that has taken up residence in my bones!

More than anything,
this forces my eyes to rise
my heart to beat tentatively once more.
Live, the birds cry,
live and join in the chorus of the morning.
And somehow, quietly, warily, my heart lifts,
open and fragile like that first violet, and whispers,
“yes”.

Threads: a pandemic poetry

Prakhar Prateek 20-CSE-105

The summer died violently this year.
The leaves frosted overnight and the skyline shuddered with the sudden onset of heavy rain, clouds, the waves, beat back against the shoreline
and the trees withdrew into themselves, fearing the morning chill.

But once the earth conceded to the death of summer
the autumn arrived gently, with soft dusky reds of sunset and cool breezes that whispered of hands in pockets and tea brewing on the delicate skeleton of the horizon and the creatures of the earth withdrew for slumber.

Summer died violently but autumn arrived with a soft hand and laid her to rest with a quiet murmur of turning leaves and a promise of streaks of evening light peeking through the curtains like stripes of liquid gold.

THE DEMON OF 21ST CENTURY

Keshav Kashyap 20-CSE-074

Heard the stories of demons, never seen one though;
Haven't got the chance even yet, but have felt one through.

Invisible to the eye, it kills just to satisfy.

The more its curse torments them, those;

Its weapon is the most lethal, camouflaged within you.
You won't even know; when it took your happiness too.

Where there are demons the slayers always emerge,
Slashing the darkness they put themselves in scourge.
Saving our families by putting theirs away from them;
And fighting the demon with their honed skills in kempt.

Even if it endows them with ruin;

They work until it resolves the situation.

The heroes see neither day nor night,

Only victory is the bull's eye set in their sight.

There is nothing that they ask, neither a dime nor a fuss;
Our love and support is all they need from us.
And even better when little heroes shine,
Taking their joy to the heights of cloud nine.

It started in nineteen and continues even to twenty one;
Testing the paces of humanity to the most severe ventures yet done.

And we shine with flying colours no matter the domain,
Moving together to victory, transcending the pain.

Locked in our houses throughout the year

Spending our lives in boundless fear,

Deadly screams we do get to hear

Sparks of humanity is in the air.

Whether it's distributing food,

Supplying oxygen or providing beds,

Some people out of crores,

Turns out to be our near and dear ones.

Economy has fallen to its squat,

Political tussle is at its top.

Everyone raving for service at doorstep,

While someone coming to us for help.

Some people help without any condition,

They are the ones who make us surprised.

Students are discontinue their studies for lack of fees,

The crowd is giving us so many sponsorships.

Believe that marriage will wait for you,

But lives will not be there for you.

Spending all your savings socially,

In future it will make you strong with kindness.

Thought that becoming a parent is a blessing,

Losing children in this pandemic is a hexing.

Let us all stand by their side,

Let us make the spark of humanity bright.

One Circumstance : Distinct Stories

RISHITA CHAIL 20-CSE-125

This is a story of a very special girl who found herself at the end of the world. But the story doesn't begin here. We have to go back before the great crumble.

It's also the story of a doctor who was happily living a normal life. But there was nothing normal about the sick. And here comes the darkness, life would never be normal again. It started with a patient complaining a normal flu. But I swear it wasn't normal, it was to stay for some days.... months.....years.....no one knew.

This was the deadly virus (COVID-19) but when the doctor faced the horrors of the city, a father was escaping to the wilderness to leave the world behind. The doctor had no choice but to serve his nation unless his wife was infected too. Poor doctor was left helpless as he knew there wasn't any cure for the infection and the army would kill the infected.

But this isn't the end of the story, you see, as the world slipped into the chaos, something else was happening. Again this is the story of a very special girl. A girl named "HOPE." Some stories start in the beginning but this one begins here.

People said the virus came from the animals whom they fed upon and killed the infected only leading the extinction of life. As much as the father tried to keep the dangers of the world out. The outside world would had a way of sneaking. However, the father made a home with his daughter. He would tell her worth through a story-----

"Once upon a time, bad guys ruled the world. Doing what they wanted, taking the planet. Self-destructive, only out for themselves. So, nature punished them and wiped away as many evil as she could and then a miracle happened. A sweet little girl was born. We called her "HOPE". Nature set the rest of earth on fire and now it burns forever. But some bad people are still out there. Now, it is our job to be happy and live it to the fullest."

But this is not the conclusion of the story...

Meanwhile, the doctor discovers the cure to save the epic love of his life. Now, the father with his daughter sets back at their home only to find his beloved wife had survived the pandemic.

Now this is the end of the story...

"Even at the worst circumstances there is a spark of humanity (here love) that can save the world from darkness."

The heroes live in plain sight

Kumari Pallavi 20-CSE-081

20 is a bad number,
It was just a myth
Until the day, covid-19 hit.

The world was alive, working and dancing;
But somehow it came to a halt,
In malevolence by a viral plot.

Reality was swapped in a day,
Hospitals for restaurants; and funerals for birthdays;
It didn't even leave the work; the office came home every day.

The cruelty unfurled its wings, as time expanded the gust of wind.
The children who lived without their fathers at bay;
Were still crying and sulking as he was still far away.

No means to reach his child, the father took a bare foot ride
Was it a 100 or 1000 kilometers apart?
He only looked at the end
Where his family waited in the yard.

In these treacherous times, some heroes emerged
No caps, no webs, no powers at all
They were humans just as we all.

The risk was of life, yet they emerged out
Saving the life of many
Not caring about how it would turn out.
It's their courage, that got us through;
Living still in our comfy shoes

The fight is still on
Taking it head on, masking in a smile
The true heroes live, right in our plain sight.

Then

Pankhury Kochar 20-CSE-101

We really were happier then,
Dancing to sunlight on worn wood,
Watching each day pass by
As if in an hourglass,
Sand trickling down uncontrolled.
Everything changed all at once
And then nothing changed
At all, save perhaps
The seasons and the deepening
Lines on our souls. And what!

Had we to do but wait, and watch,
And spend the days sitting
Near the shore, looking for Gulls that never came!

Meanwhile, the water came
Ever closer, ever further,
To and for, washing
Away whatever the
Previous moments, days, weeks,
Months had done to us.

We really were happier then,
With nothing new and nothing
Old to dull the days. And what!!!
Have we to do now, but Wait?

SAKSHI KUMARI 20-CSE-137

As we know that, now India and all of our country is suffering from coronavirus. The ongoing crisis has changed the world fabric, and no country is capable enough to tackle his alone.

This pandemic has brought out the worst in a few days and the majority of humankind. People are illustriously stepping up the ladder of humanity, leaving behind the discrimination based on religion, caste, class and nationality.

The term social-distancing has ironically brought many of us closer to each other, not physically but emotionally available. We now check up our neighbours and offer to pickup the essential supplies for them and help the elderly. We have started ending our calls by “STAY SAFE” and “STAY WELL”. Coming out of our balconies, playing games, singing songs or lightning candles for the frontline workers aresome of the unconventional ways to uplift the morale of the society.

In another way, there are some superheroes that shows their humanity and India has found in the time of difficulty that are--

Sonu sood (Bollywood actor) who helped 20,000 migrant workers reach their homeland.

Vikas Khanna (Michelin star chef)- who had organized worlds largest food drive feeding 2- million peoples from across categories such as transgender, disabled people, abandoned parents.

99-Year-Old Lady Mumbai- who prepared food packets by own for migrant workers.

Abid Ali Qureshi, Wahid Briyani - who helped over 1500 migrant labours while fasting in ramdan.

Akshay Kothawale, Autorickshaw Driver- who was supposed to marry but postponed due to covid so he decided to help people he use his wedding fund of 2 lakhs to fed migrant workers, he is feeding nearly 400 workers a day. He also received a donation of Rs.6 lakhs from the people

Lata hummed an old Hindi tune as she put the large tiffin carrier in the basket of her bicycle and started riding it. She was young and diligent. She pedalled all the way to her destination, an old house. She got off the bicycle, took out one small tiffin box from the tiffin carrier and rung the door-bell. She put the tiffin box at the doorstep and went back, humming the same tune. An elderly lady opened the door, took the tiffin box and muttered, "God bless you, child!"

Lata reached her house, made of mud and straw. The tinned-roof of the house was blown off by a cyclone that hit her hometown last year. The roof was just a stack of hay now. She went inside the house, put off her mask, washed her hands and sanitized them. She changed her clothes and went off to work.

Lata rang the doorbell of the house, where she had been working as a house-maid for five years. The owner of the house answered the door. The owner said, "You are not working here anymore, Lata. Find another job. I can't risk my family's life just because you are humanitarian and want to provide food to patients." The door banged on her face. Lata's world shattered. How would she buy rice, pulses and spices for the khichdi? Tears of hopelessness made way out of her eyes. Lata tried to sleep that night, but the stress wouldn't let her. Just then her phone rang.

"Hello?"

"I am Mandy. You may not remember me, but you saved my life by providing me food. I can't thank you enough for this work, Lata Di. You didn't spend anything on yourself last year, wore the same old clothes, but, served us COVID-19 patients with food, without taking a single penny! This is not much, but I would love it, if you work for our NGO."

Lata looked towards the idol of Lord Krishna at the corner of room. She always believed the smile on His face was a ray of hope. Did her dream really come true? Happy tears filled her eyes.

"Yes, I would."

“Sparkle of Humanity in Pandemic”

Mousam Agarwal 20-ECE-88

Covid-19 – A Pandemic, which is one of the worst global crisis so far in the history of human existence and survival battle that definitely calls for a United Global response. It felt like the world suddenly came to a standstill. We hear many people say these days, “We ‘re all in it together”. This pandemic does not actually decimated among the Upper class – Lower class, developed – developing, politicians, millionaires or the poor. It caused equal damages to all but again there’s a major factor that makes the difference is that your survival also depends on the thickness of your wallet. The United Nation Human Rights Office of High Commission reported 1.8 billion people worldwide live in homelessness and grossly inadequate housing. However no matter what, Life must go on, as the situation was non-encounterable all we can did and continue doing is to hope and pray and always look for silver lining. We saw so many courageous and kind hearted souls, who emerged as heroes in just a night. We witnessed many stories of Humanity, Kindness, Brotherhood and most importantly empathy. Many faith based organizations reached out to people with food and water. The man who became the biggest symbol of kindness and ultimate Covid – Hero is none other than one of the bollywood finest actor Sonu Sood, who played roles of villain in reel but is a true Hero in real life. He helped thousands of migrants to reach their home. Provided daily based essentials to sustain life. He did on his part a lot and there is no adjective to frame his deed and integrate his humbleness. Along with there are a lot more unsung heroes, like one after the other who did ‘Supreme Act of Humanity’. Some helped with money, some with food and water, some with their properties to changed in Quarantine centres. I personally feel that our officials somewhere failed to do so. It is the common people with uncommon and extremely biggest heart and humility who make or feel the ‘Spark of Humanity in this worst pandemic’. We get to learn so many lessons the loudest of them all is that we are so much interconnected and no one is safe until all are safe. We human beings are blessed with the divine spark within us to know what's the right and to do good. The cry of Mother Earth and the cry of poor must be answered with compassion and Global Solidarity. ‘God’ is the author of life and Nature, and we need to be grateful for the “Gift of life”, by serving others.

THE TEST OF HUMANITY

Riddhi Chatterjee 20-ECE-125

“Humanity’s true moral test, its fundamental test...consists of its attitude towards those who are at its mercy: animals.

..... Milan Kundera.

COVID-19 is the one name of fear. Now, it becomes a threat for our society but each coin has two backs. According to me this pandemic situation is the ideal time to examine our humanity. In the case academic education, the students are not able to examine themselves due to the cancellation of examinations but people can examine their values in this pandemic situation. The people like the doctors, the police officers, the driver of ambulance deserve great respect and salutes from us for their efforts during this pandemic situation. It’s true that this is an infectious disease. But we can help the affected people by maintaining a distance from them. We can provide us mental support and mental support is very important in this situation specially for the affected people. At last it is said that this the right time to prove once again that “United we stand, divided we fall”.

महामारी के समय मानवता की ज्योत

SHIVA CHOUDHARY 20-ECE-143

वैश्विक महामारी के समय का सामना पूर्वजों ने भी किया है | उस समय शिक्षा का अभाव था और सुविधाओं का भी | आज हमारे जीवन में कोविड-19 जैसी महामारी ने हमारे एकता पर घड़ी चोट पहुंचाने की कोशिश की है, हमारी आर्थिक, सामाजिक, धार्मिक परिस्थितियों को हिला कर रख दिया है | इस के कहर से कोई भी देश वंचित नहीं है |

इस बीमारी ने हमारा इम्तिहान लिया है और हमें तोड़ने की कोशिश की है इसके जवाब में दूसरी तरफ सभी देशों ने आपसी भाईचारा बढ़ाने की ओर अग्रसर हुए हैं |

सभी देशों के वैज्ञानिकों ने मिलकर परिश्रमी होने की मिसाल कायम की है और अपने बुलंद हौसलों की बदौलत वैक्सिंग का निर्माण किया है | वर्तमान समय में हमें कई बातों से अवगत कराया है | हर नागरिक के मन में मानवतावाद के बीज अंकुरित हुए हैं | आज इस महामारी की वजह से सभी परिवार एक दूसरे के लिए मददगार बन रहे हैं |

ऑक्सीजन की कमी ने हमें प्रकृति प्रेम करना सिखाया | मैंने भी मेरी छोटी सी उम्र में इस महामारी की कार से पीड़ित लोगों को देखा है, मेरे मन में भी मानवता की ज्योत प्रज्वलित हुई | मैं रुपए से असमर्थ था पर मैंने विद्या देकर कई ऐसे बच्चों को पढ़ाया है | जिसके माता-पिता इस संघर्ष में जीवन में बच्चों की ट्यूशन फीस नहीं भर सकते |

Spark of humanity in pandemic

By Salvesh Satyam 20-ECE-134

Being human is given. But keeping our humanity is a choice. Time is not on our side. Corona virus pandemic has turned the world upside down and as we say though times have always revealed the wide spectrum of human experiences, emotions, traits and vulnerabilities. The virus is affecting us as well as the animals directly or indirectly. We feel like we have to do something for others. This is an invitation not only to work together but create something better together as we humans are always known for our creativity.

The doctors are working tirelessly just to save our lives no matter what they go through. Some NGOs and organizations are trying their best to feed stray animals, helping economically downtrodden people in maintaining their livelihood. We should be grateful to every individual who is working in these tough times be it ration shopkeeper or a vegetable vendor or the medical staff members; they are providing services so that we can stay safe. They are the heroes who are themselves an antidote to the current situation.

Thus, humans can be locked down but humanity can never ever be and the spark of humanity should be spread everywhere and in every heart.

The Covid-19 Pandemic has ruined the lives of many people in our country. Numerous deaths, migrant crisis, lockdowns, lack of oxygen, lack of hospital beds and many more things have devastated our country. But amidst all the suffering and negativity there was something positive as well, i.e. the spark of humanity that we observed during the course of this pandemic.

When our country observed its first lockdown last year so many migrant labourer's had to retreat back to their homes from their working places. There was no mode of transport everyone walked, some with shoes, some barefooted carrying small children. Not only that he provided food to the needy and also helped patients with medicines and oxygen cylinders during the second wave. Moreover, this pandemic saw many people extending help to poor hungry stray dogs and other animals who got no food due to lockdown. Many Youtube Creators and raised funds for Covid victims. Many across the country provided food to the needy free of cost and with no limitation in quantity.

So, this is how so many heroes showed their sense of humanity and sparked during these tough times.

Personal Experience by Utkarsh Vivek 20-ECE-189

I am here to share a true story of a hero, my dad. Last month my uncle and his whole family got covid infected, there are nine family members in my uncle's family. All of them were so badly hit by covid that none of them were able to make breakfast or lunch. I think after two or three days my uncle called my father and told everything I mean how they were suffering from that deadly infection. When my father got that news, he got really worried. So, he decided that he will provide them meals. Every day, my mother prepared the lunch and breakfast and he delivered them. Every day he risked his life because every day he was going into a house where everyone was infected with covid. I think we have provided them meals for at least two weeks. During those days he showed that we should never let fear to overcome our pure and kind heart. I am proud of my father.

Spark of Humanity in Pandemic

Susant Kumar Jha 20-CSECS-60

Earlier when we used to look at the world, the world seems always in a hurry, always in a rush. We never really stopped, not even to see where we're going but then one day we had no choice, a new time has come in a face of pandemic, so many people have suddenly gone, so many thrown apart. Our world is collapsing, everything we look for granted we now cherish deeply. Once more, freedom became more essential, freedom to go outside, to run on the beach, to feel the sunset on our skin, to spend time with our loved ones, freedom to live that's what we're fighting for but the one thing which helped the world to fight against the pandemic is HUMANITY. When there was lack of empathy and compassion in the normal, Humanity came into action in this pandemic. This pandemic taught us the value of empathy, compassion and humanity. Almost every individual came in action, tried to help needy peoples as much as they could, being the Politicians, film stars, business tycoons as well as common citizens look initiative to help with necessity goods for whole country which will be praised forever.

The Prime Minister Mr. Narendra Modi started PM relief fund in which everyone from rich to poor contributed according to their capabilities and as a result a huge amount was being collected from PM relief fund which helped the country to fight back. Sending vaccines to different countries, helping with money which come in return to us in the face of Oxygen. Our country helped many countries with vaccines, medicines and money, and in return those countries helped us with oxygen when we needed.

Not only politicians but also the stars contributed to their best. Started free food delivery arranged transportation facilities for migrants, migrated many people from their workplace to hometown. Even the business tycoons too contributed to fight back by donating heavy amounts and engaging their man power in Social welfare. Talking about the common citizens who contributed to their best by helping the people, their neighbours and supporting the Police. Many people too distributed foods for free for the homeless and jobless people. We can't forget the contribution of Our Police, having tons of work load, family tension they worked on the street day and night, Maintained law and order and helped the needy peoples.

Doctors who became the backbone of our country, they too have family, they too have lives but they did not care about their family and treated the infected patients and saved many lives.

Witnessing these humanity and social work, there is a SPARK OF HUMANITY in every citizens.

By Kanak Shrivastava 20-CSECS-27

It has been more than 18 months since the beginning of the pandemic. Lots of lives have been lost so far. We have the grace of Lord upon ourselves that we are able to continue with our new normal. Besides thousands of negativities that surrounds us every day, we come across many positive vibes which enlightens us to perform our duty.

Positivity arises from within, which sparks the spirit of humanity within us to perform our moral duty as a responsible citizen of this beautiful world. Despite many hardships faced by people, many have come forward to help with their capability. We hear news such as of Donations by wealthy people to PM care's fund. If we want to see the positivity and get innovated, there are many examples. We can observe how all the people irrespective of their caste or religion are coming forward to help. This shows the beauty of Humanity. Many have their own agendas but many celebrities inspire us to perform our duty without any greed. If Lord has made us capable of helping others then, when shouldn't we? Youths are also taking part in this by getting inspired from others. They are conducting awareness programs in villages. Lot of celebrities are raising fund as well as food for the Covid affected areas. Many are distributing ventilators, oxygen cylinders, many are giving their land for quarantine purpose. All of these positive things give us hope that our old life will back one day as normal.

United we stand, divided we fall, that's the real spirit. Instead of focusing on negative things, we should embrace positive things and try to contribute as much as we can, this is our responsibility. We have almost defeated the second wave of this pandemic and we now have to be prepared for third wave by this spark of humanity.

SPARKS OF HUMANITY IN CORONA PANDEMIC

Dipanwita Hazra 20-CSECS-25

Humans thought that they were the most intelligent and powerful creatures but this tiny Covid-19 virus shattered their pride to pieces. It proved yet again that we should never judge a book by its cover.

Maybe this virus itself is not the only cause of this. As in every story, here too are some stone-hearted and selfish villains who care about nothing and nobody but themselves – who have had the audacity to do business with human life!!

But obviously this is not the whole story. Like every story, here are also some heroes. Despite the need to maintain social distancing during this pandemic, several people have come forward to help those in need. Not only financial support, even food is being delivered to them free of cost. Several people have voluntarily turned their cars, trucks, buses, etc into ambulances which carry patients free of cost. Doctors, nurses, medical co-workers are working day and night to cure patients and bring an end to this pandemic.

Despite the fact that being under lockdown for such a long time and hearing news about so many people dying daily is disheartening and demotivating us, but when we hear of people getting cured and when we hear stories of heroes helping those in need as mentioned earlier, we feel re-motivated and become sure that one day soon we will be freed from this pandemic. That we will be able to get back our normal lives. But till that day we have to support each other, maintain social distancing and follow other guidelines to avoid getting infected.

मजदूर बड़ा मजबूर है,
अपनों के घर से बेहद दूर है।
जिनके लिए अपना घर बार छोड़, मेहनत किया,
उसने ही भूखमरी में अकेला छोड़ दिया।
कोशिश तो सब ने की, पर भूख से कैसे जीते,
निकल पड़े सब अनन्त मार्ग पे बिना सोचे समझे।
जेब में पैसे नहीं, खाने को दाना नहीं,
पर घर जाने की जिद उन्होंने कभी छोड़ी नहीं।
पैरों के छाले, कड़कती धूप की तपिश, तो हमराही मात्र थे, सड़क पर कोई नहीं सिर्फ मजदूर अकेले थे।

सरकार ने कोशिश तो बेहद की,
बस दिक्कत सिर्फ एक थी,
मजदूरों की संख्या, तस्वीर लेने वालों से कम थी।

रेल के पटरियों पर बिखरी हुई रोटी,
मृत मां की गोदी में रोती-बिलखती हुई बेटी,
बहुत कुछ बयां करती है।
रौने के लिए बच्चों के आंसुओं भी कम पड़ गए,
सब आँखें मूँद इस दृश्य को देखते रह गए।

मजदूर तो भई मजदूर है,
मजबूरी ही इनकी तकदीर है।
समय भले ही बदल जाएगा,
पर मजदूर, मजबूर ही रह जाएगा।

Spark of Humanity in Pandemic

Sambhav Singh 20-CSEAIML-039

We are suffering from this covid19 pandemic since last 16-17 months. It severely affected every individual lives, and shown a different perspective to see the new world.

Everything about novel corona virus started in December'19 from Wuhan; a city in China. Since then the economic and social disruption caused by the pandemic is devastating. In whole world approximately 17.8 corers people are at risk and 38.5 lakhs lives were lost at the mid of June'21; resulting everything to shut off from large companies, schools and colleges, public places, hotels and restaurants to even small vendors.

If we consider facts from WHO nearly half of the worlds 3.3 billion global workforce are at risk of losing their livelihoods, while the number of undernourished people, currently estimated at nearly 690 million and could increase by the end of the year.

"If you have enough desire, will power and courage to live, nothing can kill you". ____ This happened and We felt each other, Humanity came forward, We started supporting, We fought back and survived.

---- Arif, a 30 years old rickshaw driver in Bangladesh, served 24*7 as an emergency ambulance through his auto rickshaw.

---- Mukesh from MP, India; donated more than 1 million meals to the street beggars and needy.

---- Abdul an emergency medical officer from New York, served 12 hrs every week to fight covid and even not allowed to meet his family.

There are many more such inspirations around the globe and the top most reason that we are able to withstand this pandemic.

As we know; every touch situation of our lives, teach us something valuable. This pandemic made us realize, what we were missing in this rat race to make more money.

We became grateful for what we have.

We know what we really need.

We started taking care of ourselves and our families.

Nature and everyone around the world is enjoying the breaks from pollution.

Care of our wildlife and Jungles are very important.

Now this depend on us that what we prioritize, what we want to keep and what should be left in the past.

Let's Spark a Light of Humanity

Piyush Priyank 20-CSEDS-31

In this tough time of ours, filled with darkness,
Let's hope for the streak of light.
It's like a world between you and your conscience,
So, let's be a warrior and fight.
Let's forget our enmity,
And spark a light of humanity.

In the fear of losing loved ones in this battle,
People hoped for wellbeing of each as everyone is suffering.
We have got an opportunity to prove ourselves,
So, let's lift our shield and be a part in this buffering.
To fight this seemingly unending calamity,
Let's spark a light of humanity.

We can't change the fear around the corner
but yes, we can face it together.
As an ordinary citizen, we might not understand science of covid and its gravity
But yes,
By extending our helping hands,
We can spark a light of humanity.

We are seeing some fantastic initiative from cleaning hands back in fashion, avoid hand shake and do namaste to sing a song of lockdown.
Yes, we are all altogether tuning a strong sense of community
Empathy is shown,
And we lit a spark of humanity.

So let's give our best show in the best way
Let's create a history that will be remembered till eternity
Let's set an example for future generations
Let's be a hero in the views showing our fraternity.
Let's spark a light of humanity.

Why Not? You Can

I can't say that anymore
Once you think about Why you can't.
What five people can do,
You can do that too.
Whether, you pass or not, take care again
If you can't do it once,
Look at it again and again.
Don't say you can't do it
Don't let him to hear you,
Those who are lazy and ignorant
They can't do anything.
I don't see their size in you,
But why can't I say it again and again?
No one learns to swim,
Without going into the water.
If you want to learn to swim
Before, however, the name is in the water.
He threw down and walked again and again.
Be happy to be able to proceed.

We all have been affected by the current covid-19 pandemic. However, the impact of pandemic and its consequence are felt differently depending on our status as an individual and as a part of the society. While some readily adapted to working online, some had to expose themselves to the virus to keep the society functioning while others had a hard time to make both ends meet. With all its negative impact that covid-19 has brought we still have moments of hope, compassion and humanity.

We saw people coming together irrespective of their caste, creed and nationality to help fight this pandemic. We saw countries forgetting about their enmity and standing by each other in this testing times. The frontline worriers risking their lives to save others. This social-distancing has actually brought everyone closer emotionally. We now check on our neighbors and help the elderly. Everyone is trying their part to help others, to bring a little bit of positive result. This pandemic has seen humanity like never before, people are now ready to make sacrifices on personal level for the betterment of the nation.

महामारी में मानवता की चिंगारी

Aditya Kumar 20- EE-008

जैसा कि हम सभी जानते हैं कि पिछले साल की शुरुआत में ही एक वायरस ने दस्तक दि और धीरे-धीरे यह वैश्विक स्तर पर महामारी का रूप ले लिया , जिसका नाम कोविड-19 रखा गया । महामारी ने वैश्विक स्तर पर सामाजिक,आर्थिक ,राजनीतिक रूप से सभी को प्रभावित किया ।इसी दौरान मानवता का वैश्वीकरण होना फिर से शुरू हुआ ।किसी महामारी से निपटने की मानवता की तैयारी का इम्तिहान लिया, बल्कि तमाम देशों के बीच आपसी सहयोग बांटने, क्षमता की भी परीक्षा ली ।शुरुआती समय में अमेरिका, इटली, ब्रिटेन, रूस जैसे विकसित देशों के द्वारा भी इससे निपटने के संपूर्ण संसाधन मौजूद नहीं थे ना ही कोई टीका ना ही कोई दवा । वहीं भारत की स्थिति भी कुछ ठीक नहीं थी । लेकिन कुछ महीने अनुसंधान करने के बाद अमेरिका ,रूस , चाइना, भारत द्वारा इससे जुड़े टीके और दवाइयों का सफल परीक्षण किया गया । जिसके बाद से संपूर्ण विश्व में टीकाकरण का दौर शुरू हुआ ।वहीं वैश्विक मानवता को दिखाते हुए संपूर्ण देश ने गरीब देश और विकासशील देश इन सभी को फ्री में वैक्सीन और दवाइयां उपलब्ध कराने का निर्णय लिया, जिसमें भारत ने भी अपनी सक्रिय भूमिका निभाई । इसके दौरान सामाजिक मानवता जो इस दौर में सबसे आगे बढ़ कर आए और लोगों ने एक दूसरे की मदद बिना जाति, धर्म, समाज जाने हुए की ।इस दौरान बहुत सारे लोगो द्वारा कोविड केयर हॉस्पिटल ,पीपीइ किट,मास्क, सैनिटाइजर आदि निशुल्क जरूरतमंद लोगों को मुहैया कराया गया ।जिससे हमें इस महामारी से निपटने में बहुत ही मदद मिली । इसलिए हमें "वसुधैव कुटुंबकम "के सोच को अपनाकर वैश्विक स्तर पर भविष्य में ऐसे महामारी ना आए उसके लिए अभी से तैयार रहने की जरूरत है तथा अपने संसाधनों का संपूर्ण उपयोग मानवता के कल्याण के लिए लगाना है ।

इंसानियत

AYUSH KUMAR SINGH 20-EE-030

ऐ दुनिया रचने वाले,
देख तेरे देश की हाल ,
मर रहे लोग यहाँ,
फिर भी तू खामोश है।

बंद है पूरा देश,
बिगर रही देश की स्थिति,
कितनों ने खोया अपनो को,
फिर भी तू खामोश है।

शुक्रगुजार इस देश के माटी का,
जिसने वीर सपूतों को जन्म दिया,
जो इस समय में भी,
आगे आए मदद के लिए।

आशा की किरणें दिखने लगी,
झूम उठा दिल खुशी से,
देख अभी भी बाकी है,

MY STRAYS-WHERE'S YOURS!!!???

Kumar Sourav 20-EE-054

The coronavirus-lockdown has put India's quadruped strays in extreme distress. With restaurants and eateries closure, strays have been struggling to find food. If we can't pet strays at least we can feed them with our home leftovers so that they don't go starving.

My story of helping strays started an year ago by helping a cat-kitten survive the lockdown. And specifically from a winter-night last year when we heard continuous meowing sound from our neighbor's backyard. We found a poor puppy's neck entangled too tight in the nylon fish net making it getting almost choked. We saw other four pups chirping lowly for their hurt sibling. We rescued and brought the poor pup into our garden and gave water and milk. The pup drank and went away with the family standing out our gate. Since then five pups along with their mum comes and peep in through our gate each day. We feed them. We even took the poor pup whose neck was strangled to the City Vet Clinic as it was not growing at the pace of it's siblings. Got the pup dewormed and some antibiotics so that it's wound would heal. They are not our pets but I'm sure that the love that they still hold in their eyes for us is not only for food. I wish I could find them a permanent home.

CORONA PANDEMIC

Ankit Kumar 20-EE-017

We know all the pandemics of the past,
But this is something out of the blue.

There is atmosphere of pains and fears,
Our lifelines, corona has strike-through.

Loss of both economy and precious lives,
Screams and sobs being heard all around.

This pandemic is disastrous and tragic,
Everywhere, its deep impact can be found.

Haven't see anything like this before,
It's painful to think how the future will be.

The warriors are fighting tooth and nail,
To make this mother earth corona free.

We all are going to win this battle very soon,
Till that time, we must follow the directives.

Our patience is important in this struggle,
We need to see with optimistic perspectives.

HUMANITY IN PANDEMIC

Anurag 20-EE-022

Who is she? Manju aunty, distributed thousands of footwear pair,
to “The migrant workers”
travelling with their feet bare.

Helping people with drugs and oxygen,
Look how Our Sonu Sood shines, to bring the breath of relief
and never ending Goodtime.

Meet Pyare Khan from Nagpur,
To fulfill the requirements,
spent 85 Lakhs of his capital
To serve 400 Mt Oxygen to hospital.

By Feeding humans and animals,
See NGOs and Gurudwaras creating a beautiful sight,
In the times of despair,
winning this tough fight.

YES, seeing SPARKS OF HUMANITY is rare, “God resides in Humans too” of which few are aware.

সত্যদর্শীমানবতা ও মহামারি

Piyal Bramha 20-EE-067

মানবতা, চারহরফের এক গভীর অর্থবহুল শব্দ। বর্তমান তথাগত এক বছরের সামগ্রিক পরিস্থিতি মানবজীবনের সকল সঙ্গা পরিবর্তন করতে বাধ্য করেছে। মহাপ্রস্তানের পথে এগিয়ে যাচ্ছে দৈনন্দিন। তবে সকল কিছুকে ছাপিয়ে গেছে মানবতার মহার্ঘ্য। একাধারে যেমন গড়ে উঠেছে বহু সংগঠন যারা প্রতিনিয়ত করে চলেছে অতি সাধারণের আন্নের সংস্থান। সেইসাথে পাড়ায় পাড়ায় গড়ে উঠেছে অনেক ছোটছোট স্বৈছাসেবী সংস্থা। কেবল যে তারা অতি সাধারণের কাছে পৌঁছে যাচ্ছে তা নয়, পৌঁছে যাচ্ছে তাদের কাছেও যারা কোভিড আক্রান্ত। তাদের প্রত্যেকের দৈনন্দিন প্রয়োজনীয়তার ভরসা আজ তারাই। নিজকথা নাভেবে কেবল কাজ করে যাচ্ছে বৃহৎ স্বার্থে। ছোটছোট জলকণা যে সমুদ্র গড়ে তোলে তার প্রত্যক্ষ দৃষ্টান্ত এর চেয়ে বড় আর কি। সকল কিছু যেনো আজ এক হয়ে গেছে। এ যেন গল্প হলেও সত্যি। সবার ওপর যে মানুষ সত্য তা প্রমাণিত। সকলের তরে সকলে আমরা- আজ বই এর পাতা থেকে প্রত্যক্ষ হয়ে উঠেছে। হোক বা তা ক্ষুদ্র পরিসরে। এই সত্যদর্শী মানবতার জয় হোক, বিকশিত হোক, হোক চির স্থাপিত।

कोरोना

-शाने राजा SHANE RAJA [20-EE-099]

ऐ! कोरोना क्यों तू इस कदर आया ?

सब कुछ कर गया पराया।

सभी बोलते हांथ धोते रहो

बिना मास्क लगाए बाहर कहींना जाओ।

साथी सहेली सब छूट गए

स्कूल और कॉलेज के दिन की याद सताए

रिश्तेदारों की रिश्तेदारी हमें बुलाए

पर सोच के भी हम न जा पाए।

शॉपिंग के लिए मन हमें ललचाए

बर्थडे सबका फीका-फीका पड़ जाए।

हे! कोरोना तू बता

हम जैसे विद्यार्थी पढ़ने में ध्यान कैसे लगाए

माना कि ,तू अपना कहर पूरी दुनिया में फैलाए

पर तुझे क्या पता,

मानवों की शक्ति का अंदेशा

ये एकदिन तेरे कर्मों का मजा चखाएंगे

अतित से हमें पता चला ,

ये बुरे दौर तो हर युग में आते गए और लाशों के ढेर

चारों ओर लगाते गए

कईके घर उजड़े तो कईयोंके सुहाग

हां ये तो सच है कि

तू यहां इंसानों में खलबली मचा रहा

पर तुझे क्या पता ये खलबली ही इंसानों का ताकत

बनरहा

सुनलो कोरोना, तूझ से नहीं डरते हम

हम सबमें हैं तूझसे लड़ने का दम सोशल डिस्टेंसिंग का

पालन करके

तेरा भ्रम दूर भगाएंगे ।

सरकार और बड़े लोग का कहना मानेंगे

वेक्सिन लगवाकर नेक नागरिक बनकर दिखाएंगे

घर में ही बैठकर तुझे हराएंगे,

और फिर अपना जीवन खुशहाल बनाएंगे ।

हे! कोरोना तुझे इस कदर हम सब मिलकर मिटाएंगे

तुझे इसकदर हमसब मिलकर मिटाएंगे।

Observing the true human nature in the pandemic

SHREYA GHOSH 20-FT-014

“Above all is humanity, none else.”

-Chandidas

In this 21st Century, humanity was paralyzed. This was due to our dynamic life. We became so self-centered and selfish that humanity was at stake. Helping others was a rare task. Life continued like this.

Suddenly, at the beginning of 2020, a disease named COVID-19 started spreading in the whole world. The news headlines everyday was about the number of confirmed covid cases, deaths and recoveries. Government called ‘lockdown’ which was a very new concept to all of us. A huge number of migrant workers lost their jobs. Many of them died while returning home.

This was the time when God showed us that humanity is still alive. Many people, who had no other aim, but only to serve society, came forward and helped the needy. Helping the poor and the needy people with food, groceries etc., are all the examples of humanity that got refreshed in the pandemic. The doctors, the nurses and the hospital staff worked tirelessly to recover each covid patient. People salute them as they without worrying about themselves served the society wholeheartedly.

महामारी में मानवता की चिंगारी

संजीव कुमार Sanjeev Kumar 20-FT-012

अभी तक जिसका ना नाम सुन पाया
बनकर कोरोना हमारे जीवनकाल में छाया।
पता नहीं तु जहाँ से भी आया
कर दिया सब कुछ मुझ से पराया।
बिना हाथ धोएं ना कुछ स्पर्श किया जाए
घर के बाहर वाली दुनिया की याद सताए।।

कोरोना तेरे आने से संसार में मायूसी छायी है
जैसे लग रहा हो जीवनकाल की अंत घरी आइ हैं।
सब अपने अपनों से जुदा हो रहे हैं
ये देख हमारी नम आँखें भर आई हैं।
ना सोचा था इन आँखों के लिए ये दृश्य आएगा
आक्सीजन की कमी से मनुष्य का जीवन छीन जाएगा।।

तेरी वजह से परेशान सारा जहां हो रहा है
विकास तु कर रहा लेकिन विनाश इंसान का हो रहा है।
जहाँ चहल पहल रहती थी चारों ओर
अड्डे जमते थे जहां हमारे चार यार की,
लगा दिया तुने अपनी बुरी नज़र सभी ओर।
लेकिन तुझे मना भी तो नहीं कर सकते आने से,
खुद को रोक भी नहीं सकते "अतिथिदेवोभवः"
यह परम्परा अपनाने से।।

अब यही कहूंगा की कोरोना तुझ से नहीं डरते हम
जब तक है दम तुझ से लरते रहेंगे हम।
सोशल दिसटेंगिंग के नियम निभाएंगे हम
निहःसंकोच वैक्सीन भी लगवाएंगे हम
फिर से अपना जीवन खुशहाल बनाएंगे हम।।

HUMANITY EXISTS

Sagnik Patra 20-FT-012

Amidst the hustle and bustle,
His life was hanging on a trail,
His mind was keeping him alive upon the baggage of responsibilities hailed,
But he has promises to keep; he is inches away to get failed.

As he looked at the sky,
He wished he had wings to fly,
The silence in the roads...
Portrays how happiness erodes,
Jobless, helpless as his toes huckle,
He could see the road lamp fickle.

He ran to count the days earning,
Running his hand in the pocket he could feel his heart churning,
A bit more money was he all carving,
To feed his family which was long starving...

Obnoxious state,
He felt it was all in his fate,
Side at the main road something touched his leg,
It was a dog whose eyes were at beg,
It crawled upon his feet,
With all hopes that he will give something to eat.

It's pandemic,
Yet the spark of humanity showed its magic,
He brought some biscuits,
For the dogs, it was their feast,
Though little the money,
Yet they shared each penny,
Even in the panic-stricken pandemic,
Humanity won to show it's magic.

THE LAST QUESTION

Arpan Pramanick 20-IT-027

“Sir, hello, hellooooo...”. This time also it fails to connect. Pratik is not now angry. He has just lost the feeling of anger. For the last few months, he has only the feelings of depression.

“Hello, Pratik, are you okay?” Pratik cries down after hearing the voice coming from the telephone.

- “No, no sir. I am too much helpless. Only this child has left with me. Everything ruined”.

- “Have there any Solitile pills left with you?”

Pratik says with broken voice, “Only two left, sir help us, please sir”.

- “We have nothing to do. Try to survive. Later we will go to your location”.

- “Sir, sir, pl.....”

In the meantime, he hears the crying of the little girl. Oh my god, a zombie is almost to take the child into his mouth. Just then Pratik takes his MP5 and shoot the zombie. The sound of this gun surely awakened all the nearby zombies. Pratik takes the child and starts running. After a long run he takes a relatively safe place.

Pratik is one of the senior officers of relief team. The team is gathering all the remaining people in the world. He came one month ago here to save the remaining people. But when he came, he saw everything was finished. There he saw a woman and her child of 7 years as remainders in this region. But after some days the woman was also fed by zombies. From then Pratik is here along with this child.

The girl is still now crying. Pratik gives her a pill as she was touched by zombie and also the last drop of water. The child asks, “You say, where are my parents?” Pratik smiles, “From now I am.” “But how this all happens?” Pratik again smiles, “It was 2019 when corona virus appeared. We ignored the virus. But who knew this would be the ending! The virus started to grow rapidly. Many people were dying. But after some years, the virus had gone abnormal. The affected people were converted to zombie!” The girl also stops crying. “Was not there any solution to avoid this condition?” Pratik now starts crying. Pratik replies, “Only to stay home and to make social distance and to use masks.”

Pratik again hears the roar of zombies. He starts running.

Spark of Humanity in Pandemic

रिश्ते बने डिजिटल , शिक्षा हुआ नीलाम।

कुछ इस कदर हुआ लाकडाउन का असर

हर घर में हो रहे लोग बीमार !

दाना - दाना को तरसे कुछ , कुछ हुए बेरोजगार ।

कोई बने सहयोगी के पात्र !

तो कुछ लोग दूर से ही बैठे लगाए सरकार पर इल्जाम!
गरीब तरसे रोटी के लिए , अमीर तरसे ऑक्सीजन को !

डॉक्टर हुए सब कुछ सभर्षण कर बदनाम ॥

पेड़ - पोधा कांटे मनुष्यों ने,

आज ऑक्सीजन ना मिलने पर उठा सवाल !

हो रहीं हर दिन लाखों मौतें !

और मौत पर भी हो रहे बवाल !

पहले बूढ़े , फिर जवान

अब आई हैं बरी बच्चों की..

कैसे कोई घर को दीपक जलाएं

दिल में उठ हजार सवाल !

घर में बैठ बच्चे हो रहे मानविक बीमारियों
के शिकार !

पति - पत्नी के झगड़े इतने

बड़े की ऑफलाइन कोट भी कर रहे इस पर विचार !

लाकडाउन का असर पड़ा सब पर !

पर राजनीतिक अपना इतिहास बनाया हैं !

कुछ मौत को तरसे, कुछ तरसे लाशों पर,

पर तरस न आया नेताओं को !

जो अब भी अपना चुनावी रंग दिखलाता है !

बर्बाद हुआ हर यूवा का जीवन ।,

सत्र जो यू पीछा खिसका हैं ।

पर सिकायत भी करू तो किससे !

इन दिन का न्यौता हमने खुद दिया हैं!

SPARK OF HUMANITY IN PANDEMIC

PUSHPIT SAHAY 20-IT-71

Though corona infection is contagious disease. But it mostly affects to those who have less immunity power owing to bad life style, using fast food and junk food or already suffering from diseases like Diabetes, TV, Asthma and Blood Pressure. Due to above causes and not adopting Yog and Ashan and Pranayama and Exercise in his/her day-to-day life. Positive ideas and positive thinking are utmost important factor to avoid corona. When we adopt the above mention remedial measure then we can save ourself from corona pandemic.

Our prime minister has launched yoga program and Yog divas (Yoga Day) is initiated by Narendra Modi on 21st June every year. Tomorrow, we will observe Yoga day and we all should take oath to initiate Yog and exercise in the morning about half an hour to one hour should dedicate for our health and hygiene. It should be seen in our attitude then fear of corona and corona infection can be lessen and we would able to establish a healthy society and healthy generation.

Dependence of electronic and electric appliances are also health hazardous. Freeze, AC, Cooler, Heater, Washing Machine all are very dangerous to our health system. These equipment makes us lazy and consequently ill. Villager's small towns are very healthy in comparison to that of metropolitan where water filter in necessary and using their aqua guard water purifier provides us mineral free water which minerals are very useful for our health. That is why, corona patient is in great number in metropolitans.

Ramdev Baba have done a lot in this direction. We should learn and follow this path and should enhance the survival rate and also would co-operate the medical staff by less corona cases or less diabetes cases. We saw paralyzing medical facilities during corona pandemic. Scarcities of bed, oxygen, medicine and as well as scarcity of medical staff, this problem can be solved by keeping our self-healthy and following this measure. We can develop our family, society and our nation.

What's Humanity....?

Sayantika Sahu 20-IT-091

She flew high in the sky,
Looking at the crazy world.
Sometimes in a flock, at times alone;
Always interfered, by an artificial bone.

When times were old,
Her food roamed in abode;
With every rising sun,
Each adobe was of the human

Suddenly came a day,
Everything went away;
Nor the cars, neither the people.
Nothing was moving, not even a pebble.

Then she noticed the hoards;
Bodies lying all around the globe.
It was a malicious plot,
That hit down every lot.

The span of silence expanded;
And so did the helping hands.
Though it was a tough dismay,
They survived along at the end of the day.

She had seen wars;
But nothing as this scar.
And so was the love in sight,
Never stronger as in this fight.

The worst they faced
And the best they came out

she learnt in the end
What humanity is all about.

করোনা মহামারীতে মানবতার স্ফুলিঙ্গ

Subhajit Kundu 20-IT-112

করোনা আবহে, হাজার যাতনা সহ,
যোদ্ধারা আজও দেখো লড়ছে।
নিজের জীবন বাজি ধরছে।
ঐ দেখো ডাক্তার, ছেড়ে তার পরিবার,
রোগীটার পাশে আছে দিনরাত।
করোনার সাথে তার দিনপাত।
দেখো নার্স দিদিভাই, ভয়ডর তার নাই,
রোগীটার সেবা তার হওয়া চাই।
আপনার জন ছেড়ে অপরের সেবাতেই সুখ তাই।
করোনার গাড়ীটার, দেখো ঐ ড্রাইভার,
মৃত্যুকে হাতে নিয়ে লড়ছে।
মুক্তির বেদী তলে জীবনের জয়গান গাইছে।
পুলিশেরা রাস্তায়, বিবেক জাগাতে হয়
বিবেকের গান তারা গাইছে।
করোনার নিয়মেতে মানবের জীবনকে বাঁধছে।
ঐ দেখো বধু মাতা, শ্বশুরের প্রাণদাতা,
জীবনের বাতি তার ক্রমে ক্রমে নিভছে।
করোনার সাথে আজও লড়ছে।
স্বামীটি বিদেশে তার, সংসারের দায়ভার
সব ছিল নিজহাতে।
একাকি লড়াই তার কেউ নেই তার সাথে।
মানবিক ঐ মুখ, করোনার যত দুখ,
সাথে নিয়ে মানবের সেবা তারা করছে।

Spark of Humanity in Pandemic

Soumitra Samanta 20-ME-65

The COVID-19 Pandemic likely won't be ending soon, leaving countless aftermaths to humanity. In this challenging situation, social dedication and service is needed more than anything to shine the light of humanity. Many people step out the feet to help their destitute in this adverse pandemic condition. One of them is Mr. Shyamal Jana, school teacher, president of Contai. He has shown a new ray of humanity amidst the dark socio-economic condition.

He is so dedicated to this noble work that he spends half of his salary to help needy people with rice, oil, spices, potato, medicine, etc. He urges and inspires other people to stand by the sufferer. He has also posted his phone number in Facebook so that the people who are in need can contact him easily. Denying adverse atmosphere, he even drives 20 to 30 km on his bike to help the COVID positive patient and their family by serving them necessary medical help as well as daily commodities.

We all should follow the foot step of Mr. Shyamal to bring the smiles on the faces of those persons who are suffering a lot physically, mentally, economically and socially.

SPARK OF HUMANITY IN PANDEMIC

MD MUNZIR AZAM 20-ME-040

With the onslaught of coronavirus across the globe, an unconceivable and catastrophic scenario began to hold its grip on our sight. Uncountable deaths, nationwide lockdown, closure of schools and public places became the new normal and put our life on hold. It made the whole world helpless and weep for their kith and kins.

In tough times like these, it's very easy for a person to blame the government or the country where the pandemic originated. But a thorough introspection will make it hard to digest the fact that we as a whole humanitarian sect also are equally accountable.

To my utter surprise and exuberance there has been a massive spark of humanity in the covid-19 pandemic. People extended their helping hand - emotionally, financially, socially, physically etc. People organised charitable trust to help the needy. They started to feed the hunger, provide shelter etc. Citizens also donated their money to governmental organisation which acted as an additional aid to build infrastructure, buy medical equipment and medicines etc.

These all acts of humanity laid a solid foundation to fight the war against the pandemic. Indeed, humanity should be a deeply plant instant in the human heart which can inspire the coward of deeds to a heroine adventure.
